Number 70: April 2025

Mid-Winter Board meeting

The meeting was held Saturday, January 11 at Christ Church in Jacobus, Pennsylvania. Directors in attendance were Tom Shelley, Bonnie Baim, Bonnie Flaharty, Stephen Gladfelter, Larry Gladfelter Jr., John Shelley, Philip Glatfelter, Ben Miller and new member Kristi Russell. Board members who joined by conference call were Pamela Tuscany, Sarah Melcher, Harry Gladfelter and Chris Glatfelter. Judy Martin, Rick Gladfelter, Rick Hoover and Dean Gladfelter were excused, and Jean Robinson was absent.

President Tom Shelley opened the meeting at 10:02 a.m. in prayer.

Tom shared the letter from Rick Hoover resigning from the Board of Directors as of January 11. It was moved and passed unanimously.

In the special order of the day, Tom introduced Kristi and there was a motion by Bonnie Baim to fill Rick's spot on the board by electing Kristi. The motion was seconded and passed unanimously.

Tom asked for a motion to elect Rick as Emeritus Director, which was passed unanimously.

For the Communications Committee, Larry shared an email in August from Holly Beck, who said she's trying to identify the maiden name of Maria Magdalena, wife of James Allison. There are many family trees that list her as Solomon's daughter, but she hadn't been able to verify that.

Church records list the baptism of James and Magdalena Allison's first child, Johannes, on May 9, 1789, with Casper (junior) and Eva Klatfelder as sponsors. James and Magdalena are sponsors for the January 2, 1790, baptism of Elizabeth Klatfelder, daughter of Casper and Eva.

"I realize this doesn't support a relationship," Holly said in her email. "Her tombstone shows her death on January 22, 1850, 'Aged 83 years 10 month, 25 days,' which would make her birthday February 28, 1766. My question is: Is it likely that the daughter of Solomon would have traveled back to York County to marry James Allison?

"I don't know how much traveling occurred in those days or how strong the family connection would have been."

In November, there was a message from Joan Mason about a John W. Welch (1771-1847), who married Solomon Glattfelter's daughter. "Does anyone have more John W. Welch info?"

The emails were forwarded to Phil, who responded. Little is known about daughters – James Allison's name arose before, but in relation to a daughter of Casper (senior). There were also inquiries about the name Welch in the past, with little information available.

Treasurer Bonnie Flaharty had distributed the financial reports electronically. She noted that 2024 was a pretty good year for the Association due to Reunion sponsorship donations. The Financial Report was passed unanimously.

Rick had distributed the reports for the Investment Committee via email. Tom noted that the investments, including the Scholarship Fund, are doing extremely well.

The Executive Committee met prior to the Board Meeting to prepare the 2025 budget or spending plan. Using last year's financial report as a worksheet, the 2025 budget adopted was:

Anticipated income -- Interest and earnings, $2,300; Reunion sponsorship, $3,800; Reunion reservations and donations, $1,400; unrestricted gifts (park, newsletter, undesignated), $6,500; merchandise sales, $450. Total -- $14,450.

Anticipated expenditures -- Reunion costs, $3,000; park expenses (electricity $350, insurance $2,000, taxes $2,300, maintenance and mowing $1,500), $6,150; printing, postage, mailing and teleconferencing, $2,000; historical/records and website, $2,500; donation to York County History Center, $200; IRS/tax preparer $600. Total -- $14,450.

Note that insurance and taxes on the park are now nearing $12 per day and total park expenses are $118 per week. Also, increased investment income results in higher taxes and advancing the new website may entail costs in excess of budget.

The proposed budget was passed unanimously.

Phil reported that he has caught up on the brick patio records. There are nearly 1,350 inscribed bricks, with 478 bricks under Felix, the most among the sons.

Reporting for the Communications Committee, Larry said the fall Newsletter was printed and mailed, with the Facebook and email notifications sent out on November 30 to 549 email addresses. The open rate has fallen from over 50% to 48.2% (261 opens).

People were given the opportunity to go to the Beta website. Almost 60% visited the Beta site and 40% visited the current site. As of January 8, there are 580 subscribers on the email list.

Work continues on the new website, with a "soft introduction" to the site when the Newsletter was sent out. More meetings were planned to iron out details toward launching the site. The new website will present e-commerce opportunities, particularly for CGAA merchandise. See more on the website later in the Newsletter.

Scans that had been done of the Association's Archives can be viewed at: https://t6609b6da9bc9f2d6.starter1ua.preservica.com/portal/en-US/collection/sdb%3ASO%7C828b041e-0a5c-4432-bc25-fa5e362a5bbe

Phil stated that he plans on this being his last year creating the Newsletter. He would like to find someone younger and he is willing to help with this.

Phil also shared about the Glattfelden booklet and the Association is exploring the possibility of making it available to Glattfelder descendants. The booklet by Edith, Teddy and Sandra Glattfelder is copyrighted and the Association will need to present options to them and collaborate with them on the distribution of their very fine work. Harry moved that the Communications Committee contact them and report back to the board with the options. The motion passed unanimously.

Phil spoke with Tony Campisi, Chairman Emeritus of Glatfelter Insurance, about a painting of the Homestead and a Glattfelden Crest. See more on this later in the Newsletter.

For the Property Committee, Tom noted that the trees planted by Dean looked fine and that the well had been winterized.

It was reported for the Reunion Committee that the topic this year will be "Glattfelders in Medicine." Tom noted that he was glad to see that veterinarians were included in the program.

Judy informed Tom that we will need to find a caterer. A local vender, Pappy's Q, and Mission BBQ in York will be investigated. Tom noted that the costs will be much higher and he hopes that sponsorship donations will continue to increase. The Board will have much to decide at the May meeting.

For the Education Committee, Ben shared that there are five applicants this year, three who are new and two who had applied previously but had not received a scholarship.

And there are four active scholarship recipients, three who are juniors and one is a sophomore. Barring any of those recipients dropping out, they will receive scholarships in 2025. Then, in the fall of 2026 (spring 2026 application), there will be three openings.

There are enough funds to offer five scholarships and the Education Committee may offer a fifth this year.

The meeting was adjourned at 11:09 a.m.

2025 Reunion

This year's Reunion is scheduled for Saturday, July 26 at Heimwald Park.

As previously mentioned, this year's program will be "Glattfelders in Medicine." Director Harry Gladfelter's research continues to yield a wonderful look into family accomplishments after his two-part program "The Glattfelders and Their Patents" in 2021-22 and "The Glattfelders and Their Art" in 2023. There will again be a PowerPoint presentation, along with several of those featured in the program telling us about their careers.

More information about the Reunion will be included in the Reunion Newsletter in June.

President's Message

As Independence Day approaches, one of my family's traditions is to watch a series of lengthy movies during the evenings of early July. We begin with "God and Generals," which tells of the life and service of Confederate General Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson on July 2; follow that with "Gettysburg" on July 3, the day of the fiercest fighting of the three-day battle; and conclude with "1776", a musical comedy about the writing of the Declaration of Independence on July 4.

"Gettysburg" was such a lengthy production that its home video format required that the movie be split into two DVDs. The second DVD opens with a scene filmed at a still-standing barn which had been pressed into service as a field hospital. The carnage permeating that place was more befitting of a butcher shop than of a hospital.

Such was the life of a Civil War surgeon.

Such was the life which Dr. Noah Glatfelter, fourth generation descendant of Casper, endured.

Dr. Noah's post-war avocations, such as his interest in cataloging fungi, may have been undertaken as means of helping to erase the memories of the horrors of his military service. And the expansion of his father's work of documenting the generations of Casper's descendants may well have been spurred by a yearning for those days when we were truly "one nation under God, indivisible …."

Irrespective of motive, Dr. Noah's 1901 magnum opus, "The Descendants of Casper Glattfelder," became the catalyst for the first Reunion four years later — and the genesis of all that has followed thereafter.

In recent years, many Reunion programs have highlighted the accomplishments of Glattfelder descendants in various disciplines. We have showcased the many patents obtained by members of our family and the diverse palate of our kindred's artistic expressions.

This summer, we will return to our 19th century roots and recognize Glattfelders in medicine — both human and veterinary.

As discussion about this program unfolded, I was delighted to learn about the accomplishment of a former Scholarship recipient, Sally Trout, whose father, Don, is one of the Trustees of the Bupp's Union Cemetery, a place very dear to our Association. Sally is completing her training to be a pediatric orthopedic surgeon.

While vacationing with her family, Don suffered a leg injury in Acadia National Park … and Dr. Sally was able to come to his aid so that he could return home with all limbs intact.

Dr. Noah would be very pleased!

As he would be with each and every one of us, the living, who dedicate ourselves to the cause for which those Civil War casualties offered their last full measure of devotion.

May we stand strong as we "cement [our] ties of consanguinity"!

New CGAA website

The Casper Glattfelder Association of America (CGAA) proudly announces the launch of its new website, as of March 10, 2025.

This online platform will serve as a central hub for family members, historians and genealogy enthusiasts interested in the rich legacy of the Glattfelder family.

The new website (www.glattfelder.org) offers a user-friendly experience with enhanced features including:

Genealogy research tools: Access important links, heritage background and lineage information.

Connect: Stay in touch or share your family line.

Event announcements: Stay updated on reunions, historical preservation projects and Association meetings.

Digital Archives: Explore a growing collection of photos, documents and artifacts related to the Glattfelder heritage.

"The launch of this website is a milestone in our ongoing efforts to preserve and celebrate the history of the Glattfelder family in America", said Larry E. Gladfelter Jr., Communications Chair. "We invite all family members and those interested in genealogy to explore our new digital home."

The CGAA remains dedicated to fostering connections among descendants of Casper Glattfelder and ensuring that future generations have access to their rich family history.

The creation of the website was a collaboration of the CGAA Communications Committee: Larry E. Gladfelter Jr., Harry Gladfelter, Pamela (Gladfelter/Hershey) Tuscany and Philip Glatfelter. However, none of this would have been possible without the expertise of fellow Glattfelders Cathy Clodfelter and her daughter Lily (www.myartplane.com). Both Cathy and Lily specialize in fine arts and graphic design.

For more information, visit http://www.glattfelder.org or contact Larry E. Gladfelter Jr. at webmaster@glattfelder.us.

The Casper Glattfelder Association of America is a nonprofit organization committed to preserving and sharing the history of the Glattfelder family in the United States. Through genealogical research, community engagement and historical preservation efforts, the CGAA connects past, present and future generations.

We're not alone

While the Casper Glattfelder Association of America holds the Glattfelder Reunion every year, we have probably felt, not wrongfully so, that it is the Reunion of Casper's descendants.

In fact, our archives include notes and letters talking about various reunions across the country. Three years ago, Dean Clodfelter contacted me about a large order of merchandise – including the bulk of our supply of coffee mugs – for a reunion in Indianapolis.

And this year, Jim Dibble of Hays, Kan., inquired about information on his line of the family, with the name Glodfelty -- another Glattfelder spelling that has not been frequently seen, though there was contact with that line in the past. Jim noted that "I am attaching a letter which my Great uncle received from (historian) Charles in 1967 shortly after attending the reunion."

The letter from Dad to Harold Glodfelty of Woodston, Kan., said that the CGAA's only information came from Noah M. Glatfelter's genealogy, telling Harold that his line includes Solomon (1738-1818), Casper Glotfelty (1777-1843) and Henry Glotfelty, who married Mahala Ogg and, later, Lyda Boyd, whose daughter Anna Woodworth in 1910 was reported as living in York, Neb.

At this point, I was unable to provide any additional information.

In our communications, Jim talked about a reunion of his Glodfelty relatives in Salina, Kan., April 12 and invited me – or any of our Directors – to attend. I was planning to attend, but some health issues arose. Maybe next year.

Among other information Jim sent, "Lydia Boyd Glodfelty, the supposed wife of Henry (1808), came to Kansas in about 1876 or 1877 with three sons, Henry, Joseph and Clyde. This family reunion is comprised of those three men's families. I never have found any records of Lydia and Henry's marriage. I have never found any records of this Henry's burial. If you happen to have any information regarding either of these events, I would be appreciative."

I'm hopeful that I will get to western Pennsylvania in the near future to visit a historical society or courthouse to further research his inquiry. (And while in western Pa., hopefully I can visit the graveyard where another of Casper's sons, Michael, is buried.)

Jim expressed interest in attending the Glattfelder Reunion and I certainly expressed in our communications our desire to have him and any other of his reunion-goers visit us at Heimwald Park in July.

Finding a new home

A stretch of Leader Heights Road near York, Pennsylvania, has always had an attraction for me. Among the strongest is that the main route I take from my home in Hallam to Heimwald Park includes that road. I also go that way to visit some friends and relatives.

Three places of interest there are on either side of Route I-83. To the west is what used to be the headquarters of Codorus Valley Bancorp Inc. That bank, initially called the First National Bank of Glen Rock and later Peoples Bank, was where my father, our longtime historian Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter, got his first job.

In front of the Codorus Valley building is a historical marker for former Pennsylvania Governor George M. Leader, who is descended from Casper through two of his sons.

And on the other side of I-83 is Glatfelter Insurance, established by former Director Arthur Glatfelter in 1951.

Art's complex held significance in several ways, including hosting board meetings and housing the Association's Archives for many years. And the Glatfelter Room there held numerous items of Glattfelder interest, including two presented to the Association in 2005 at the 100th Reunion celebration.

In the fall, after visiting a relative in Jefferson and returning via Leader Heights Road, something drew me to the insurance building and the contents of the Glatfelter Room. I had visited there years before, not long after Art's passing, and inquired about the status of the room's contents. At that time, there was no thought to change the current setup.

This time, things had changed, including the items in the room, which had been moved into storage. After meeting with Tony Campisi, Chairman Emeritus of Glatfelter Insurance, it was deemed worthy to give the items to the Association.

One of the items is a painting of the Homestead, presented to the association by Doris Glatfelter Schiller and painted by Dorothy Bechtold Smith. Smith attended a one-room school and got into trouble due to her love of drawing. Later in life, she took a couple of art classes and painted after working in a cigar factory and attending to family duties, often painting into the wee hours of the morning. She likened her style to Grandma Moses. She gave the painting to her friends, Doris's parents, in 1977 and it hung in their living room until presented to the association.

The second item was a glass ornament with the emblem of Glattfelden.

The painting will be kept with our Archives at the York County History Center, eventually being displayed on the wall above our filing cabinets and the ornament will be kept at Heimwald Park.

Close to home

A story that appeared on the Gettysburg College website had special meaning for the Association and especially two of us on the Board, my sister Chris and I. A portion of the story follows and there will be more about its meaning at the end.

As an art history major with minors in public history and Civil War era studies, Miriam Glatfelter (Class of 2024) recognizes the deep-rooted history of Gettysburg. This historical presence coupled with a dynamic history department ultimately enticed her to choose Gettysburg College.

"I really like the fact that Gettysburg is so tied to the history of this region and has such an excellent history department, as well as an art history department. A lot of colleges don't provide this much support for art history and I was very fond of seeing that at Gettysburg," Glatfelter said.

Glatfelter also has familial ties to the College. Glatfelter Hall is named after Philip H. Glatfelter, who served on the College's Board of Trustees from 1888 to 1907. Philip would have been Miriam's third cousin five times removed.

There also is another Glatfelter connection to the College through Emeritus Professor of History Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter '46, who was the longtime executive director of the Adams County Historical Society and taught at the College from 1949 to 1989. Charles would have been Miriam's sixth cousin twice removed.

"A lot of people do ask me about the connection, so it's nice that I can provide them with that genealogical history," Glatfelter said. "I also think it's just so neat to know that Glatfelter Hall is here. It's my favorite building on campus, and I take photos of it most of the times that I pass by."

Glatfelter served as the inaugural Susan and Joseph Biernat intern. The Biernat internship is a semester-long opportunity in Special Collections devoted to curatorial studies, fine arts and public history. Through the internship, Glatfelter curated the exhibition, "Reading Mary Margaret Stewart" at the Schmucker Art Gallery.

"As the Biernat intern, I work as the go-between for Special Collections and the Schmucker Art Gallery, and I also work with the fine arts collections here at Gettysburg College," Glatfelter explained. "Starting in January of 2023, my task has been to curate an exhibit. I helped to unpack the works that have come from Mary Margaret Stewart's house."

Mary Margaret Stewart was one of Gettysburg College's first tenured female professors and taught English from 1959 until her retirement in 1996. Stewart was an avid art collector who donated her extensive collection to the College, and about 70 pieces of that collection were accessioned into the fine arts collection. Glatfelter researched each of these pieces and selected which would be featured in the exhibit.

For Glatfelter, Gettysburg College provided her with opportunities to collaborate with Special Collections and the Schmucker Art Gallery. These opportunities have allowed her to explore the College's history and have better prepared her for the professional world.

Miriam Glatfelter, a recipient of the Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter Scholarship, is shown in front of Glatfelter Hall on the Gettysburg College campus. Miriam, which was also the name of Dr. Charles' wife, was the Susan and Joseph Biernat intern at the college.

"I feel so much more prepared to explore my interests as I move into a career field because of how I've been able to explore those interests here at Gettysburg College," Glatfelter said.

Of course, as you know from last year's Reunion program, Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter was our Association's longtime historian and Chris's and my father.

The ties hardly end there. Miriam is now a Visitor Services Associate at the Adams County Historical Society's Gettysburg Beyond the Battle Museum. The Historical Society is located less than a mile from our childhood home at 36 Apple Ave.

Miriam is also a recipient of the Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter Scholarship, offered through the Association to Glattfelder descendants and administered by the Adams County Community Foundation.

And one last coincidence: Miriam was our mother's name.

Gone, but not forgotten

This post by noted York County historian Scott Mingus appeared on the Retro York blog in March.

An iconic York County name quietly disappeared from the business world in the fall after more than 160 years.

I first became aware of the P.H. Glatfelter Company when I was a student in the paper science & engineering program at Miami University in the late 1970s.

After graduation, I worked for 23 years as a paper scientist near Cleveland for Avery Dennison and, as a customer, occasionally flew into the Thomasville airport to visit Glatfelter's paper mill in Spring Grove, something you could smell as soon as getting off the plane.

In July 2001, Glatfelter hired me as the global director of new product development and I moved from northeastern Ohio to York. I remained with the corporation until 2017 and consulted for them afterward occasionally. Glatfelter sold most of its U.S. assets, including the Spring Grove mill, to what is now Pixelle, but the company name stayed on after management moved its headquarters to Charlotte, N.C.

Now, the residual Glatfelter has merged with part of Berry Corporation to form a new entity, Magnera, ending the long run of Glatfelter as a stand-alone leader in the global pulp and specialty paper business.

Did you know that P.H. Glatfelter bought the Spring Forge mill during the Civil War after Confederate raiders stole the supply of paper and rags during the Gettysburg Campaign and essentially bankrupted the operation?

The mill manager died of dysentery after being caught stealing clothing from dead bodies after the battle of Gettysburg to use as a supply of fiber and being sentenced to dig graves for dead horses. The owner of the mill, the Widow Hauer, died of a heart attack and the mill was auctioned in December 1863. Philip H. Glatfelter was the high bidder.

Farewell to the name P.H. Glatfelter. Pixelle and Magnera do not have the same connection to historic York County family ownership. The stench from Spring Grove, however, lives on ... the "smell of money."

Note: Scott played a significant advisory role in the Association's publication of H.I. Gladfelter's Journal in 2023.

Scholarships

The Education Fund Committee has been accepting applications for The Nathan Glattfelder and Ives Bricker Scholarship for the 2025-2026 academic year since November 2024. To date, nine inquiries and five returning applications have been received.

Deadline for applications is April 1 of the awarding year, so students are always encouraged to get started early to meet all the requirements in a timely manner. For more information, go to the website.

For information on The Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter Scholarship, set up through the Adams County Community Foundation, visit our website for a link to the ACCF website.

A third scholarship opportunity is The Larry and Lois Gladfelter Endowed Scholarship through Messiah University. College-bound descendants of Casper Glattfelder are encouraged to pursue these opportunities.

Brick Patio

The deadline for ordering bricks this year is May 17. The cost remains $75 (see enclosed order form). For more information, contact Philip Glatfelter at 717-968-4577, e-mail to glatfelterph@aol.com or mail to 430 Charles Circle, Hallam, PA 17406.

Merchandise

Glattfelder merchandise is always available to order from the Association's website, https://www.glattfelder.org/, and will again be for sale at this year's Reunion. Items featuring the Glattfelder coat of arms include golf shirts, t-shirts, tote bags, coffee mugs and pens.

There are also Cat's Meow replicas of the homestead and pavilion. Other items include historical booklets, Christmas cards and videos.

For apparel, if you do not see your size or color on the order form, contact us and we can attempt to get them. Let us know about any merchandise suggestions you may have.

For more information, contact Philip Glatfelter at glatfelterph@aol.com or 717-968-4577.

Obituaries

Members of the Association's Historical Committee continue to track family members and accumulate corresponding obituaries. However, the list of deaths for reunion programs will be limited to those that include the most common Glattfelder names in their obituaries, with other names listed by request. To do so, contact Jean Robinson (jrobinson2335@comcast.net) or Philip Glatfelter (glatfelterph@aol.com).

Picture This

Heimwald Park has a different look to it in the winter months. Above, a view of the Historical Building and Spring House, and, below, looking from the pavilion across the valley toward the Homestead.

Among the merchandise sold in the past were pewter plates and mugs with the Glattfelder coat of arms. How many of you have these?

This painting of Old Dorm on the Gettysburg College campus was painted by Millard Gladfelter and given to Charles H. Glatfelter. Both were Gettysburg grads as well as longtime Association Directors.

Remember the date

This year's Glattfelder Reunion is scheduled for Saturday, July 26 at Heimwald Park.

Again this year, we are looking for family members to become sponsors and hopefully reduce the price for a meal. The reduction is two-fold: make it more affordable for Casper's descendants and, therefore, bring more of them to the Reunion. Deadline is May 30. Sponsors' names will be included each year in the Reunion program. Levels include:

Founder Sponsors of the Casper Platinum Award: Contribute $700 or more equivalent to 35 meals and receive six complimentary meal tickets.

Sons/Daughters of Casper Gold Award: Contribute $500 equivalent to 20 meals and receive four meal tickets.

Grandchildren of Casper Silver Award: Contribute $240 equivalent to 12 meals and receive two meal tickets.

Friends and Family of Casper Bronze Award: Contribute $100 equivalent to five meals.

Whether you attend or not, the Association encourages these donations to fund the Reunion.

Reminder: The Board of Directors has requested that everyone receiving this newsletter contribute at least $5 annually to help cover the costs of preparing, printing and mailing the newsletter and the reunion invitation letter.

* Email subscription: To be notified via email when the Newsletter is available on our website, please include your email address above. Unless you indicate otherwise, this will also remove your name from our regular mailing list.
